

TSANGAI BUSINESS GROWTH SERIES · #06

The 15-Minute Website Audit

Ten yes-or-no checks that reveal exactly where your website is leaking leads — and the one fix that recovers the most, today.

WHO IT'S FOR

Owners whose website gets visitors
but the phone stays quiet

TIME REQUIRED

15 minutes

WHAT YOU'LL ACHIEVE

A website score out of 10 and your
#1 conversion fix, found today

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Your website isn't losing traffic. It's losing trust.

Most service business websites don't need a redesign — they need ten small trust fixes. This audit finds them in 15 minutes, ranked by how much each one is costing you.

When I audit a website, I'm not looking at the design. I'm looking for the three seconds where a visitor decides "these people can help me" — or hits the back button. Almost every site I review buries its proof, hides its offer, and makes contact harder than it needs to be. All fixable. Most of it this week.

— Ray, TsangAI Consulting

WHY THIS MATTERS

5 sec

How long visitors give your homepage before deciding to stay or leave

2x

A small conversion lift doubles leads without a dollar more on traffic

0 signals

Trust cues most sites show above the fold — reviews, results, proof

THE ONE IDEA

Pass the 5-Second Test, win the visitor.

In five seconds, a stranger must know three things: what you do, who it's for, and what to do next. If any of the three is missing, everything below it is wasted.

Example: A plumbing company's hero said "Quality You Can Trust." Nobody knew what they did. Changed to "Same-Day Plumbing Repairs in Durham — Book in 60 Seconds" with a review badge beside it. Calls went up the same week.

YOUR 10-MINUTE QUICK WIN

- ☐ Open your homepage on your phone (that's where most visitors are)
- ☐ Show it to someone for 5 seconds, then ask: what do we do, and what should they click?
- ☐ Run the 10-point checklist on page 4 and total your score
- ☐ Circle your lowest-scoring check — that's this week's fix

Five steps from leaky to lead machine

1 Run the 5-second test

Fresh eyes only — a friend, your spouse, anyone who doesn't work in the business. Five seconds on your homepage, then two questions.

Do this: Ask: "What do we do?" and "What would you click?" Write down exactly what they say.

2 Score the 10-point audit

Page 4 has ten yes-or-no checks covering clarity, proof, and friction. Be honest — a generous score just hides the leak.

Do this: Tick each box, total your score out of 10.

3 Fix the hero first

Your headline should name the outcome, the audience, and the next step. Use the headline formula on page 4 — or let AI draft five options.

Do this: Write a headline in this shape: "[Result] for [who] in [area] — [one clear action]."

4 Put proof above the fold

Reviews, star ratings, years in business, jobs completed, real client names. Trust you've already earned is useless if it's hiding on page three.

Do this: Move your best review and your strongest number next to the headline.

5 Cut contact friction to one step

Every extra form field and click costs you leads. Capture the lead first; gather the details on the call.

Do this: Reduce your form to name, phone/email, and one question — or add a booking link.

COMMON MISTAKES

This is where most business owners get stuck.

They rebuild the whole site when three fixes would do. They write headlines about themselves instead of the customer's problem. And they send hard-won visitors to a contact form with nine required fields.

PRO TIP

Check your site on your phone with your slowest connection. If it takes more than three seconds to load or the button is hard to tap with a thumb, fix that before touching a single word of copy.

The 10-point audit + your rewrite prompt

The 10-Point Website Audit 1 point per YES • My score: ____ /10

AREA	CHECK	YES?
Clarity	A stranger knows what we do within 5 seconds of landing	☐
	The headline names the customer's result, not our company values	☐
	There is ONE obvious next step (button) above the fold	☐
Proof	A real review or rating is visible without scrolling	☐
	We show numbers: years, jobs done, clients served, results	☐
	Photos are of us and our work — not stock images	☐
Friction	The site loads in under 3 seconds on a phone	☐
	Contact takes one step: short form, click-to-call, or booking link	☐
	Every enquiry gets a reply within 1 hour (test it yourself)	☐
	Prices, service area, or "starting at" ranges are easy to find	☐

What your score means

- ✓ 0–4 — Leaking hard. Fix the hero this week. Fast wins ahead.
- ✓ 5–7 — Solid but slipping. Proof and friction fixes will move the needle.
- ✓ 8–10 — Converting. Now send it more traffic with confidence.

The Headline Formula

[RESULT THEY WANT] for [WHO] in [AREA] — [ONE ACTION] Example: "Same-day AC repair for Raleigh homeowners — book online in 60 seconds."

The Homepage Rewrite Prompt

You are a conversion copywriter for local service businesses. My business: [WHAT YOU DO] serving [WHO] in [AREA]. My audit score was [X]/10; my weakest checks were [LIST THEM]. Here is my current homepage text: [PASTE IT]. Rewrite the headline (5 options), the subheadline, and the button text. Grade 6 reading level, no hype words, lead with proof. Then list the top 3 changes in priority order with a one-line reason for each.

Turn this guide into one win this week.

A guide you read changes nothing. A page you fill in does. Two minutes — do it while it's fresh.

1 • WHERE I AM TODAY

My website score: _____ / 10 My weakest check: _____

2 • THE ONE THING I'M FIXING THIS WEEK

My one fix: _____

The first small step (under 15 minutes): _____

Small beats big. Pick something you can finish in one sitting.

3 • WHEN I'M DOING IT

Day: _____ Time: _____ Booked in my calendar? ☐

Open your calendar and book it now — a plan without a time slot is a wish.

4 • AFTER — WHAT HAPPENED

My result (hours saved, jobs booked, thing shipped): _____

What I'll do differently next time: _____

NOTES

KEEP THE STREAK

One fix a week is 52 upgrades a year. When this page is full, re-take the guide — a rising score is proof your systems are working.